

7.1.4 Water conservation facilities available in the institution

- Our Institution focuses on water conservation through rainwater harvesting. The Institution has percolation pits at the campus. Percolation pits are used to increase the ground water level. Also the rainwater which is collected from the roof is used for improving the ground water level.
- The institute has setup the pipe lines in a way where the rain water collected is diverted to the lawn.
- Water tanks are well maintained by the exclusively appointed plumber at regular intervals. All the damages and leakages are rectified on time to avoid water wastage.
- The Institution has well planned water distribution system which provides 24 hours water supply throughout the campus. Separate tanks are established for mineral water for drinking and regular water for all means.
- The institute also has an access to receive water through pipe line supported by municipality. The fresh water is stored at underground and by using motor; the same is carried to the tanks for multipurpose.
- The pipelines made by PVC and UPVC are well channeled to supply the drinking water to all areas where water dispensers are present.
- The water drains are regularly checked and cleaned by the scavenger and other workers of the institution.
- The Institution takes efforts to create awareness on rain water harvesting and water conservation among the students. The curriculum of B.Pharmacy programme of the institution is enriched with the course related to environmental consciousness. Also the Programme Outcomes (Pos) for many programmes offered by the institution are designed in such a way to ensure environmental sustainability. Thus, the Institution always gives due consideration for water conservation and proper maintenance of its distribution system.
